

Integrated Management System (IMS)

Release Memo

June, 2011

All users:

- On the IMS password recovery screen ("Forgot Password"), users are no longer required to enter their "User Name". Only the email address is required. The password recovery email will contain both the "User Name" and a temporary password. The password is valid for one use, so users will be asked to change it immediately upon login.
- Since it is very important for us to have correct email information in the system, users will be asked to validate their email address upon their next login. This is scheduled to happen only one time, but may be requested again in the future.
- The Litigation 396 report has been updated to handle the new systemic case type and the GINA statute.
- A new function was added to a database package to assist in ad-hoc queries. This change does not affect IMS users.

Litigation Application:

- A new "Systemic" Case Type has been added to the Information TAB of the Case View/Modify screen. A very limited group is authorized to change the Case Type to "Systemic".
